FAQs on Attestation Services in UAE

1. Why is certificate attestation required in UAE?
Attestation is required to prove the authenticity of documents. Without attestation, certificates issued abroad may not be accepted by UAE government authorities, employers, or educational institutions.

2. How long does certificate attestation take in UAE?
The timeline varies depending on the document type and issuing country. On average, it can take anywhere from a few days to a few weeks. Ascent Attestation offers expedited options to save time.

3. What is MOFA attestation and why is it important?
MOFA (Ministry of Foreign Affairs) attestation is the final step in UAE. It confirms that all prior attestations (from your home country and embassy) are valid, making your documents legally usable in the UAE.

4. Can Ascent Attestation help with urgent attestation needs?
Yes, we specialize in handling urgent and time sensitive cases, offering quick processing without compromising accuracy.

5. Do commercial documents also require attestation?
Yes, commercial documents such as business contracts, trade licenses, and power of attorney often require attestation for official recognition in UAE or abroad.

6. Is attestation needed for family visa applications?
Yes, documents like birth, marriage, and educational certificates must be attested to process family visa applications smoothly.

7. Does Ascent provide end to end attestation services?
Absolutely. From initial verification, embassy attestation, to MOFA approval, Ascent handles the entire process with transparency and reliability.
